Dialogue with AI: Why doesn't Xi Jinping panic

The great leader does not panic, which is the exclusive news close-up of the mainland's official Xinhua News Agency reporter.

From Saddam in the Gulf War in 1991, Assad in Syria, who has been exiled in recent years, to Maduro of Venezuela, who was captured alive in January this year, to Khamenei, the supreme leader of Iran, who was accurately beheaded on February 28, Xinhua News Agency reporters predicted that many men would never be "fearless" before the fall or death.

Their most charming thing is said to be "not panicking" in the face of danger, that is, "calmness" when they are about to die and never giving up. It is unknown how Xinhua News Agency reporters speculated on the psychological state of these people.

In the history of the Communist Party of China, Chinese netizens have long seen the propaganda of "hero image" or "person setting", such as the well-known "Li Yuhe" and "Hong Changqing" during the Cultural Revolution, but they never dare to mention the psychological bumps of the great leaders.

In a dictatorship where information is highly controlled and power is highly centralized, the highest level of exposed emotions is never a personal psychological problem, but the existence of the efficiency of the rule. Panic means losing control, and calming means still under control - at least, to let the outside world "see" that the control is still there. Of course, smart reporters dare not do graffiti casually.

The system of the Communist Party of China and these unlucky people above are the same. They are old friends of the Party or Xi Jinping.

Therefore, the reporters dared to speculate, so that the boss could see that the outside world was as stable as Mount Tai, and could continue to warm up. The mainland media inertively praised their emotional stability, and the old city was there, so naturally it was out of the question.

Since Xi Jinping came to the kinto k time in 2012, Xi's "humanistic" propaganda has entered a new historical period, and has also created the miracle of the "creating gods" project of mankind.

He not only rolled up his sleeves to be a man, but also dared to laugh at the Soviet Union and the American empire. His reading and reading is comparable to reading is comparable to a supercomputer, and he has guided more than 250 directions throughout China and the global village. In the publicity of Xinhua News Agency, it is simply the role of an ancient emperor.

Therefore, Xi's mood and determination should be far above that of Maduro or Khamenei, and naturally cannot be described by the word "panic". However, this is my guess.

But now the international situation is violently turbulent, and the agents have been taken down or beheaded; the domestic people can't make a living, and all industries are depressed; the intra-party struggle is heated, and it has reached the point of life and death.

Even the stupid people can see that Xi Jinping's dragon chair is shaking, and it is uncontrollable. How did the previous bragging propaganda face his frequent haggardness and fatigue?

Although everyone is looking forward to it, the Xinhua News Agency reporter still dare not write: "Why doesn't Xi Jinping panic?"

This phenomenon is intriguing.

But most people know it well. Those who understand or don't understand yet want to know what reason Xi is to panic or not panic.

Obviously, the current culture of the mainland is that imperial power must not be equanted with panic, or have any connection, because that is a big deal. But it can be written that the American emperor is panicking and Japan is panicking...

So I took the lead and prepared to write this argument. I guess the title would make many official writers in the wall hate it. But if you have a good move, why don't you ask the seemingly omicient American AI platform?

As a result, AI drawing quickly gave four reasons not to panic.

It really surprised me that the big AI platform in the United States has also been fed by the grand narrative of Xinhua News Agency in the past, which looks like an overseas version of the big publicity. In just a few dozen seconds, the head of those clichés is the way.

Grasp the big picture

Strategic determination

Strong military power

Support by public opinion

Note that AI is not like a Xinhua News Agency reporter, and there is no fear of losing one's livelihood or losing one's head. Although other AI websites also have different interpretations. But they all dare to say the word "panic", which is more like a man than reporters.

In general, most platforms at present have no innovative and critical underlying logical thinking ability. It is just a supercomputer tool that summarizes known astronomical data based on the distribution of the rate.

AI itself will not lie, but if most of the materials it eats are products of gutter oil or toxic milk powder, they will naturally vomit garbage.

If netizens ask the same question on the Chinese AI platform, it is speculated that there will be two results: AI said that President Xi would never panic, or the conversation would be hung up directly; the other result is that you need to provide contact information, and the police will find you soon.

Back to the conclusion of AI in the United States. Xi Jinping does recognize himself to grasp the overall situation, otherwise how can he guide the general direction of 250 human beings? And as soon as he went on stage, he nervously claimed that there was a thousand-year "big chess" that Westerners could never understand.

I have solved the secret of this mysterious chess game in 2024. For details, please refer to the previous article. The analysis of the AI platform is also quite detailed, and this kind of "big chess" out-of-the-fartho perspective will not be "recommended" by the algorithm platform of big data.

But this chess game has indeed collapsed, and it has long been confirmed by hundreds of millions of eyes. In this regard, I am not an algorithm winner, but I have more independent thinking and criticism ability than AI.

Therefore, if the AI machine says that it is not panic, it does not mean that Xi is really not panicking.

Xi recently shouted that the cadres of the Communist Party of China should know "awe" of him. Fear is fear. Look how many generals he arrested in the name of "unfaithfulness"? From the "rocket army in one pot" to "the one in the military commission" and "one in the sea, land and air", it can be said that it has created a miracle of panic.

It is said to grasp the overall situation, but some people have already seen that the "Second Party Central Committee" is in the layout, and the internal struggle will only become more intense, as the analysis and prediction of Benbo two years ago.

As for strategic determination, the recent war in the Middle East only shows the world the power of mouth-to-mouth guns. In addition to shrinking his head to be a turtle, he can only hide behind the agent, send satellite images, and steal missile raw materials... Do some small actions. Trump shouted, and Xi was so scared that he quickly replied, promising not to support Iran's military aid, and he didn't even dare to say a word. But there should still be small movements behind him. You might as well take a closer look at the other side of his panic.

Because the end of Khamenei's beheading was there, the "defense" system of the Communist Party of China was just a pile of paper, and the underground bunker was not very useful. Only the mouth gun was the most real psychological reaction.

Trump's new global order and strategic reset, including controlling all major maritime places (such as the Panama Canal and the Strait of Malacca) and quickly dealing with the evil axis agents, has smashed Xi's overall situation or the millennium chess.

Xi has been stunned. Can he continue to maintain his so-called "strategic determination" without panicking?

The US dollar, the U.S. military and U.S. debt are considered to be the dominant forces that support the international political and economic rules of today's world. The vision can also be subdivided into oceans, oil, the Internet and many high-tech fields.

The Iranian war on February 28, 2026, as a turning point in the new century, made mature AI technology appear on the historical stage.

Therefore, if AI technology is not controlled properly, there will be nonsense saying "not panic".

Computers, AI and other high-tech, if controlled in a closed centralized system, will be another scene.

In Syria, Venezuela and recently in Iran, the breaking work of the Chinese Shield, especially those radars blown to the sky, Red Flag 9B air defense missiles, supersonic aircraft carrier missiles and J-20 aircraft, has been noisy for many years. As soon as I went to the battlefield, it turned out to be all derivatives of tricks and kidnapping.

Therefore, a large number of "experts" or "academicians" of major countries relied on by Xi have recently died or been arrested. It seems that the first to panic is this group of dead ghosts, not the ancient emperor sitting above the dragon chair.

However, there is no news that makes people more flustered than the following rumors.

According to the report, by the end of last year, within six months, the VPN hacker "FlamingChina" entered the Tianjin Super Computer Center (NSCC) extremely easily, and a large amount of computer data was quietly taken away (10PB, about 10 million GB). All the data of the extremely sensitive and infrastructure of the major military industry has been leaked and sold on the dark web. Experts revealed that "hackers claim to obtain system access through the invaded VPN domain and lurk in the internal network for a long time, downloading a large number of key materials including projectile and bomb design drawings, aerospace research, biological information and nuclear fusion simulation." There is also information that "the content involves a large number of national defense and scientific and technological secrets such as aerospace, military projectile design, stealth aerodynamic analysis, nuclear fusion simulation, etc.".

The official panic quickly spread on the Internet. From April 1, 2026, a special rectification for "illegal cross-border access" will be carried out, requiring access service providers to sign a compliance commitment and immediately shut down the notified IP... All IP addresses are not allowed to access networks outside mainland China, including Hong Kong, Macao, Taiwan and other countries and regions, and it is prohibited to carry VPN, proxy and other related services.

At the same time, a large number of Chinese passports have been seized by the authorities, and travel abroad has been restricted by new strong measures.

This is the panic atmosphere in China. Internationally, American cannons and American spirit are making MAGA a reality.

I have asserted in the previous article that "the U.S. military is expected to take over the Strait of Hormuz by military in the end", and MAGA's global strategy will control all maritime focal points, including naturally including the strait, which exceeds 50% of the world's crude oil exports. China shares the purchase of about 90% of crude oil exported by Iran at a very low price, accounting for about 50% of the total domestic consumption. China's current crude oil reserves can only sustain the economy for about 80 days.

After Iran's source is exhausted, there are not many options. Turn to old Russia to buy more, bow down to the United States in dollars to buy at a "high price", or collide directly with the world's most powerful army blocking the Strait of Hormuz.

Doing nothing will only further shrink China's economy, which depends on oil and related products, and become the ruins of the "world factory".

Won't such a cruel reality make Xi Jinping panic?

The media said that the Communist Party was not afraid of death, but according to historical statistics, up to 95% of the Communist Party would immediately surrender and choose to save their lives. The matter itself conforms to the survival law of human nature and is beyond reproach. But dictators are anti-human. They always forcefully portray themselves as great heroes, trying to fool the people to die for themselves.

In the end: not afraid of death and not panic, it is simply non-human.

But Americans are well aware of the characteristics of human nature. This time, the feat of the United States' rescue flight officers at all costs in Iran shocked the world. Why do people spontaneously be patriotic, and why do they still say frankly at critical junctures: "God is good", because this is a country loved by the people, not a country that fools with words.

Seeing such a people-oriented tradition of the country also makes the dictatorships who claim to have public support chill their backs and panic all day long.

AI said that Xi Jinping did not panic because of public support. You can't deny that such people with interests are whitewashing every day, and you can't rule out that a large number of fools who have been banned from the Internet exist in every corner.

The official has all kinds of knives and handles similar to the Iranian Revolutionary Guards to protect them layer by layer, and there are also big-mouthed cannons with pens and poles to create momentum every day, and more than one billion leeks can be harvested at any time.

Xi said that Jiangshan is these leeks. His fathers fought in the world in order to be able to sit on the rivers and mountains for thousands of generations, that is, to sit on the heads of the leeks and harvest wildly.

Outside, there are Russian fathers and Xiaojin hugging, and inside are bunkers underground in Xishan, Beijing, Qinling and the western desert. Of course, in major cities, there are also a large number of bunkers buried under residential houses.

The people are the best shields or shields. Xi, like Maduro or Khamenei, said that he would not panic but still wanted to drill into the rat hole for fear of beheading.

Even AI dare not explain this logic in detail.

Therefore, "not panic" has become an institutional inertial oath, not an on-the-spot psychological response. Thank you, AI's frankness!
